Overview

Extensive experience in Alternative Healing, Consulting, Business Software, and University-Based Research & Teaching. Unifying threads that run through these activities are strong interests and highly developed expertise in:

- Wellness, emotional, spiritual, physical--making individuals healthy & happy
- Networked systems—their effects on the health of organizations and individuals
- Effective communication—connection, conceptual clarity, emphasis, metaphor
- Best methods—in these areas, exploring, designing, articulating them in writing

Activities by Area

Counseling, Healing (24+ years)

Founder, Principle Teacher, Author1989–1994

The Lower Hudson Bear Tribe New York City

Native American inspired, shamanic Spirituality and Healing Techniques (Circles, Sweat Lodges, Vision Quests, Workshops, Articles). I was trained by Sun Bear and other native elders between 1986 and 1994. (Some of my teachers do not wish to be named; see Apprenticeship below or call me if you have questions.)

Founder, Principle Teacher, Author1995–2007

Business (21 years)

Owner, Designer, Project Manager1987–1997

Exceptional Woodwork NYC, Philadelphia

Marine, Residential, and Commercial woodworking projects. This business formed a grounded, flexible support system for me while I was apprenticed to native teachers, and later running the Lower Hudson Bear Tribe

Director of Organizational Development 1997–2002

Chief Technical Officer 2003–2008

Music Together LLC Princeton

Design, Implementation, and Management of Human and Electronic Systems that helped this early childhood Music Education company to grow from 6 employees to 60. A very profitable business that did good in the world

Teaching, Research (10 years)

Research Technician 1967-1971

Argonne Cancer Research Hospital University of Chicago

With considerable physics and math in my undergraduate background, I became part of a diagnostic radiology team investigating the frequent occurrence of small-lesion false positives in liver scans made using Technetium 99m as the radioactive agent. I became the team's developer when we modelled the behavior of early "collimators" using Fourier transforms programmed in FORTRAN IV. This problem was solved in a most interesting way and I was named as a contributor on three publications, and as first author on another (see citations below).

Assistant Professor 1972–1978

Columbia University New York City

Joint Appointment in Linguistics and English. Taught graduate and undergraduate semantics, humanities, writing—trained expository writing staff. Original Research on the role of underlying Conceptual Metaphors in human language. See The Conduit Metaphor: A Case of Frame Conflict in Our Language about Language. (My groundbreaking article on a coherent, underlying "folk model" for human communication found in the English language. For the article, click here; to see the extraordinary number of references to it, click here. Google "conduit metaphor" to learn more about it or see references to my work; or see the Wikipedia article covering it)
